DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

I. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: Line 2 of claim 1 recites “one or more battery cells”, however, lines 3-5 only mention “said battery cells”, implying only the use of more than one cell (i.e. lacks antecedent basis). Furthermore, it is unclear as to how the cell balancing system would balance the discharge of the cells (with one another) if there were only one cell. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Barron (US 7,126,310).

With respect to claim 1, Barron discloses a cell balancing system, comprising: one or more battery cells (no. 302 in Fig. 3 and 430-440 in Fig. 4); a safety circuit in electrical communication with said battery cells (no. 316 and 306 in Fig. 3 and 4 and col 2 ln 36 to col 3 ln 6); an input/output channel for use by a device which incorporates said battery cells (no. 314 along with its connections in Fig. 3, plus/minus terminals in Fig. 4, abstract, and col 3 ln 7-21); and a means for balancing the discharge of said cells (no. 306 and 460 in Fig. 3 and 4, col 5 ln 55 to col 6 ln 9, and abstract).

Art Unit: 2838

Please note that the cell balancing circuit helps act as a safety circuit (in addition to the sense circuit also mentioned) in the sense that it balances the cells to avoid problems which arrive from unbalanced battery cells (i.e. shorter life span for the pack). They also clearly act as a means for balancing the charge/discharge of the cells (in addition to the charging unit).

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Tsuji (US 5,998,969) also discloses an apparatus for regulating/balancing the state of charge of cells of a battery set.
